EGBERT and the COUNT

The Terrible Noise

ONE sunny day Marmaduke came skipping up the road leading to King Louie's palace. He was all set for his duties as high chamberlain to the king. Marmaduke was so busy humming a little tune that he didn't notice all the hustle and bustle up ahead at the royal palace. All of a sudden, a yelping, yiping bunch of fluff went streaking by him, followed by several howling creatures, all making a fearful racket. For a moment, Marmaduke didn't even recognize the royal dogs, they were moving so fast. "Golly," thought Marmaduke, "I wonder if King Louie knows his dogs are running away. I'd better hurry up and get some of the guardsmen to go after them." And he scurried along even faster.

As he got close to the palace, he heard a terrible commotion. It sounded like a great, big fog-horn one minute and in the next, it sounded like a high screeching owl. It was such an awful sound that Marmaduke quickly clapped his hands over his ears to deaden the din. Then he looked around at the royal guardsmen. They were all at attention, but each and every one of them had a huge pair of bright, red earmuffs clapped over his ears. And even so, every time the terrible noise started again, they'd all look up at the palace and then make awful faces. Marmaduke looked up, too, and he could see that the window of the King's throne room was wide open and that the dreadful noise came from there. Right then, Marmaduke got very excited. He started scurrying about the courtyard shouting, "To arms! To arms! King Louie is in trouble! Where's the Captain of the Guard! To arms!" The guards didn't pay any attention to him at all and poor Marmaduke was just picking up a big spear to go to defend the king when the Captain of the guard emerged from the palace, adjusting his big, red earmuffs.

"Never mind, Marmie," he said sadly, "you can't do any good with that spear. No weapon will save the king." Marmaduke looked amazed. "But Louie must be being tortured or else there's a fiendish machine at work, or something," he gasped. The Captain laughed, "You see, King Louie has decided to take up music and that horrible racket is merely our royal highness tooting on his horn." Marmaduke didn't wait to hear more. He just scooted towards the palace in a hurry. The Captain called after him, "I hope you can talk some sense into him, Marmaduke, or we'll have a revolution on our hands."

Marmaduke stalked into the throne room with his fingers in his ears. There, on his throne, sat King Louie, and he was blowing so hard on his horn that his face was as red as a tomatoe and his cheeks were all puffed out. He didn't have any music to follow, but he was certainly making a lot of noise. Marmie shouted, "Hey, King Louie, stop for a minute and tell me what's going on." But the King kept blasting away on his horn and ignored his high chamberlain completely. Then Marmaduke grabbed a big apple out of the royal fruit dish and threw it. It landed right in the end of King Louie's horn. There was a loud sputter and then a splat! Louie slowly lowered the horn to his lap and glared at Marmaduke. "What do you mean by interrupting a master at work, cheddar head? You've ruined my beautiful composition." "Sorry to cut in, Louie, but that is anything but beautiful music," replied Marmaduke. "Why don't you learn how to play the horn first, then maybe you can compose?"

At this, King Louie blew up. He was so mad that he just jumped up and down as he yelled, "Phooey! Everybody tells me I have to learn to play the horn. I'm the King, and I don't have to learn anything! No music teacher is going to tell me how to make music." "But that's what teachers are for," interrupted Marmie. "They know all about music so they teach other people and pretty soon the other people know as much as they do." But King Louie would have none of it. He ranted and raved and then finally picked up his horn once more and just before he started to make more horrible noises on it, he turned and glared at the quivering Marmaduke. "And don't mention any old fuddy-duddy music teachers, because NOBODY can teach me how to play this horn!" Marmaduke hurried from the throne room muttering.

He scurried into his private study and there he sat to think and think for a long time. It was pretty difficult with all that racket going on, but suddenly the racket gave him an idea. He went to his file marked "Music Teachers" and after leafing through it furiously, he came up with a file that read "Lili Lion." Chuckling merrily, Marmie left the room. Outside he gave instructions to one of King Louie's secretaries and he hurried back to the throne room.

Louie was resting between sessions on this horn, but he didn't welcome Marmaduke very cordially. "Well, what do you want? I don't care to hear any more chatter about my music so if—" "Don't worry, King Louie," said Marmie, "I just came to tell you to expect a visit from a beautiful lady." At this, King Louie perked up visibly. "Well, that's the best news I've had today," and he rushed to a mirror to adjust his crown. "If she's as beautiful as you say, I'll serenade her with my horn. She ought to go for that." "Yes," laughed Marmie. "She'll go immediately." Louie was all set to start shouting at Marmaduke again but fortunately there was a knock on the door and in walked the loveliest lion lady that Louie had ever seen. "How do you do, King Louie," she said sweetly. "I'm Lili Lion."

Louie almost fell over himself getting a chair for the pretty Lili and gulping as he tried to talk. "Glib . . . er, I'm so glad you came to visit, Miss Lili. I'd like to play a little tune for you on my horn." Miss Lili looked over at Marmaduke who was having a hard time hiding his laughter and then she turned her big, blue eyes on Louie and said softly, "That would be fine, your highness, but first let's look at this lesson book I brought with me." And she held out a book marked "Music Lessons for the Horn." Now this was what Marmaduke was worried about. He held his breath and carefully started to walk backwards towards the door. Louie didn't say a word, he just stared at the book in an odd way. He was silent for so long that Marmie started to quake. Then, all of a sudden, in a soft, quiet voice, very unlike King Louie as a rule, he said, "Why, Miss Lili, I'd be delighted to take music lessons from you." Marmaduke scampered gleefully from the room. And before long the guardsmen tossed all their earmuffs away and the royal dogs returned to the palace and King Louie carefully practiced the horn until he was really pretty good at it.

Tired of Being Ashamed of Your Build?

LET ME GIVE YOU A NEW HE-MAN BODY!

Charles Atlas

Awarded the title of "The World's Most Perfectly Developed Man" in an international contest.

My Secret Method Has Worked for Thousands No Matter How Skinny or Flobby They Were—Now, Why Not Let It Work For You?

HERE'S WHAT I'LL PROVE 15 MINUTES A DAY CAN DO FOR YOU

I DON'T CARE how old or young you are, or how ashamed of your present physical condition you may be. If you can simply raise your arm and flex it I can add SOLID MUSCLE to your biceps—yes, on each arm—in double-quick time! Only 15 minutes a day—right in your own home—is all the time I ask of you! And there's no cost if I fail.

I can broaden your shoulders, strengthen your back, develop your whole muscular system INSIDE and OUTSIDE! I can add inches to your chest, give you a vise-like grip, make those legs of yours lithe and powerful.

I can shoot new strength into your old backbone; exercise those inner organs, help you cram your body so full of pep, vigor and red-blooded vitality that you won't feel there's even "standing room" left for weakness and that lousy feeling! Before I get through with you I'll have your whole frame "measured" to a nice, new beautiful suit of muscles!

WHAT'S MY SECRET?

"DYNAMIC TENSION!" That's the ticket! The identical natural method that I myself developed to change my body from the scrawny skinny chested weakling I was at 17 to my present superman physique! Thousands of other fellows are becoming marvelous physical specimens—my way. I give you no gadgets or contraptions to fool with. When you have learned to develop your strength through "Dynamic Tension" you can laugh at artificial muscle-makers. You simply utilize the DORMANT muscle-power in your own God-given body—watch it increase and multiply double-quick into real solid LIVE MUSCLE.
